

New resident wants to make best choice

Sharon chose us for her job search by looking at our ratings. She relocated to this area and at the same time decided to leave the education field and return to office work. This combination of factors made her know that she could use some expert advice on the local job market.

A former Office Manager, Sharon would be equally happy working at your front desk. Part-time hours or temporary work are great options as she settles into the community. A long-term arrangement is on her radar, but you won't feel that pressure from her if that's not on offer in your scenario.

On the other hand, if you need a strong office manager, let's see if she is a candidate for your opening!
